INTERIOR TREND 2023

COLOR RY

Our senses are influenced by colour. We automatically correlate colours with meanings that affect our emotions, whether consciously or unconsciously. In this way, the affects of a room may be altered—they can occasionally be tranquil and calming or inspiring and energetic! According to the atmosphere We wish to create.

LAVENDER

Lavender will rule in interior design in 2023, according to trend analysts. With its blue component, the delicate pastel tone exudes both serenity and joy. Lavender ensures the ideal balance at home, whether it is in furnishings, wall paint, or textiles. And best of all, various nuances can be properly complemented by the serene colour. When combined with lavender, light, warm floors give the space the lively atmosphere of a Provence summer day. An oasis of harmony and peace is created by the blending of purple-toned soils and restrained grey soils.

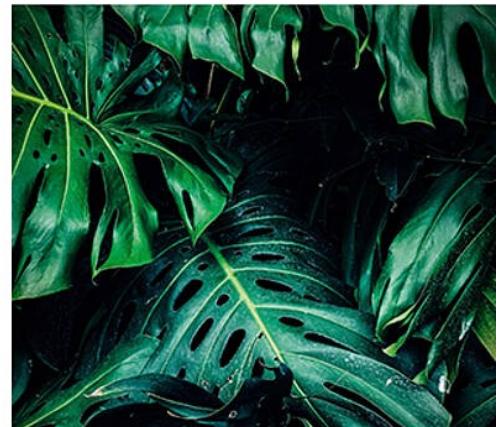

Your imagination has no bounds, then!
